Meat Strike Hits
Area Chain Stores

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Operations of the giant A. & P. food chain were crippled Friday by a strike of meat cutters at some 150 of the firm's stores.
Other employees of A. & P. observed picket lines established by the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers Union. In some cases A. & P. stores were run by the manager and supervisory personnel.
Food Fair Stores, Inc., and American Stores (ACME), other large food chains bargaining jointly with A. & P. for a new contract with meat cutters, furloughed their meat cutters.
STROUDSBURG, East Stroudsburg A&P Super Markets will not be affected by the strike, officials said here.
It was stated that their local is in Wilkes-Barre and doesn't come under the jurisdiction of the Philadelphia group.
However, American Stores (Acme) meat workers are under the jurisdiction of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and But-

U. S. Indicts
Red Party As Fail To Sign

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury indicted the Communist party of the United States Friday for refusal to register as an agent of the Soviet Union.
The 12-count indictment returned under the internal security law of 1950, makes the party, on conviction, subject to a fine of $10,000 for each day it continues to refuse to register, identify its officers and provide information on its financial operations.
Friday's action came only a few hours after the midnight deadline for registration of the party's officers but 11 days after the Nov. 20 deadline for registration of the party.
This indictment, returned by a regular grand jury at the request of the Justice Department is directed only at the party. But it is assumed the officers will be indicted later. If indicted and convicted, they become subject to the same $10,000-a-day fines plus five years' imprisonment for each day of violation.

Final Deadline
A third and final deadline falls on midnight, Dec. 20, when individual members of the party are required to register. If they refuse to register and are indicted and convicted each would be subject to the same penalty as the officers.
Communist party headquarters in New York had no immediate comment on the indictment. There were some indications that the action is driving the party's activities underground although, technically, it has not been outlawed.
A Justice Department spokesman said copies of Friday's indictment would be served on two attorneys, Joseph Forst of Washington and John J. Abt of New York.

These two were identified as counsel for the party in a letter in which the party advised the Justice Department it would not comply with the law.
The letter—which was unsigned—said compliance with the 1950 law would constitute self-incrimination and expose the registrants to prosecution under the Smith Act which makes it a crime to belong to a party advocating violent overthrow of the government.
That the Communist party meets this definition was established in trials and convictions of several top Communist leaders.
Atty. Gen. Kennedy, in a statement accompanying the indictments, said the Communist party had made drastic changes in its organizational set-up in apparent preparation for the expected court battles to come. He noted it has reduced the number of its national officers to three, eliminated dues payments in some areas and greatly reduced frequency of local meetings.

From a wartime peak of about 70,000 party membership is believed to have dwindled to about 10,000 now.

Bank Interest
Of 4 Per Cent
Is Authorized

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's banks were authorized tonight to pay up to 4 per cent interest on some savings deposits.
Announced reasons for the move were to "increase freedom of competition" and help the country's balance of payments situation.
The 4 per cent maximum will be effective Jan. 1 on all savings and time deposits left in the banks for one year or more. For the past five years, the maximum had been 3 per cent.
The action was announced jointly by the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. It will apply to more than 13,000 commercial banks within the jurisdiction of those agencies.
Explain Move
In a statement explaining its move, the Federal Reserve Board said the 4 per cent rate would permit commercial banks to compete more effectively for savings deposits. They will now be in a position to match, in some cases, the generally higher interest rates that have been offered by savings and loan associations.

In addition, the board said, banks will be able to "compete more vigorously to retain foreign deposits that might otherwise move abroad in search of higher returns and thereby intensify an outflow of capital or gold to other countries."
The Treasury issued a statement applauding the higher maximum rate, saying it will accomplish in part the Kennedy administration's objective to attract and retain foreign funds.
In addition to allowing higher interest payments on 1-year savings deposits, the banking authorities are permitting the payment of up to 3 1/2 per cent on such deposits left in the banks for at least 6 months.
Each bank will have to decide for itself whether to raise its rates in line with the new maximums. The Federal Reserve Board said:
"Experience suggests that any moves toward higher rates are likely to be gradual. Almost five years have passed since the maximum permissible rate was increased from 2 1/2 per cent to the present 3 per cent. Many banks, however, still pay less than 3 per cent."
The board said its 6,109 member banks have 50 million savings and time deposit accounts amounting to $67 billion.
The FDIC move will apply to 6,997 insured state banks which are not members of the Federal Reserve system.
Congress authorized the reserve board and FDIC to fix maximum permissible rates in 1933. The levels were changed only twice before under that authority.
Under the new interest rate schedule:
For funds on deposit for a period of less than six months there will be no change in the 3 per cent interest rate.
For money on deposit for from six to 12 months, a maximum rate of 3 1/2 per cent will be allowable.
For funds on deposit for one year or more, the permissible maximum interest rate goes to 4 per cent.

Pentagon CD
Chief Urges
Shelter Units

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon's Civil Defense chief urges everybody who can to go ahead and build fallout shelters.
Stuart L. Pittman, assistant secretary of defense for Civil Defense, announced the start of a nationwide survey to tag the buildings best suited for public shelters, but said: "I think that people who have back yards and basements and have the means to do it should go ahead and build minimum shielding."
Pittman said that while the building of private shelters would not solve the problem for everybody it would fit the needs of "quite a number of people."
He told a news conference Friday everybody should have some plan of where to go and what to take in the event of a warning of nuclear attack. He mentioned apartment dwellers as one group that probably would have to rely on public shelters.
Civil Defense planners say there is plenty of shelter space available in downtown areas to protect people caught in a daytime attack. They say the basic problem is to find enough shelter space in residential areas in case of a night attack.
School buildings may offer the solution in many areas and suggestions have been made that the federal government might consider paying part of the cost of adapting and supplying schools as shelters.
Pittman announced contracts are being awarded to architect-engineer firms in all 50 states to identify and mark buildings, tunnels, mines and other places suitable as shelters.
Congress voted $169 million for the marking-identifying program and for stocking the selected areas with food and supplies.
Pittman said "We don't agree" with the contention of some scientists that fallout shelters would only delay death from radiation.

Closing Affects
Bars, Nite Clubs
HARRISBURG (AP)—There is no getting around it, the state Liquor Control Board said Friday, public bars and night clubs must remain closed New Year's Eve because it falls on a Sunday.
In reply to many inquiries the board issued the following statement:
"The permitted hours for sale of alcoholic beverages are established by the legislature in the liquor code and the board has no discretion to vary these in any particular."
Present law requires that bars and public clubs close between 2 a. m. Sunday and 7 a. m. Monday.
Hotels in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia may serve alcoholic beverages between 10 a. m. and 10 p. m. on Sundays and private clubs are permitted to be open to members on that day.

10 Women, Youth Hurt As Dominican Crisis Grows

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Troops fired machine guns and hurled noise bombs at antigovernment demonstrators Friday, wounding 10 women and a youth, as a crisis intensified in this island nation. Hospitals said fragments from noise bombs caused the injuries.
A report that a man was killed by the gunfire could not be confirmed.
The violence — with some anti-U.S. overtones — erupted after the National Civic Union, self-styled nonpartisan organization which is the nation's major opposition group, openly defied an army demand to end a four-day general strike.

Despite the opposition's stand, some shops reopened in Santo Domingo and traffic was about half normal. There were also signs of weakening in nearby areas. Opposition leaders acknowledged previously they could not count on a prolonged shutdown.
A check of hospitals indicated injured were hit by tin fragments from the noise bombs. Witnesses said the shooting and noise-bombing occurred as 300 women were marching in silence.

"We were walking along quietly," a woman related, "when suddenly an army truck and two police buses appeared in front of us. They fired machine guns and noise bombs."
Police, showing a stiffening attitude to the opposition, hauled down loudspeakers as Dr. Viriato A. Fiallo, leader of the Civic Union, was addressing a crowd of thousands.
A police colonel told him he had orders to take the loudspeakers down because they were being used to incite the crowd to subversive acts.

Whites Attack 3 Newsmen
In Miss. 'Rider' Conflict

MC COMB, Miss. (AP)—Despite increased police vigilance and the mayor's promise to suppress violence, disorders erupted on the streets of McComb Friday with groups of white men attacking visiting newsmen.
Four white men attacked Don Uhrbrock and Don Underwood of Life magazine and Simmons Fentress of Time magazine. The attackers pushed Uhrbrock toward a plate glass window.
Later in the day, a group of six white youths attacked Associated Press photographer Fred Kaufman. One of them hit him three times behind the right ear before Kaufman reached the office of the McComb newspaper, the Enterprise Journal.
When new Negro "freedom riders" arrived from Baton Rouge to test segregated facilities in the McComb bus terminal, a group of white men cursed other newsmen whom police hustled into City Hall for protection. The new riders apparently left McComb quickly by car.
Violence first erupted in McComb this week when five Negroes—three men and two women—were attacked and beaten Wednesday by a group of white persons. One of the Negro men, Jerome Smith of New Orleans, said later he was beaten by a man wearing brass knuckles.

Mayor C. H. Douglas said four white men were arrested in connection with the beatings, charged with fighting and disturbance of the peace and later released on $100 bond each.
At the same time, Douglas said the city would enforce the new Interstate Commerce Commission ruling banning segregated facilities for interstate passengers in transportation terminals. He said he would end violence in the city.
Fentress said the three newsmen were walking toward the newspaper office when the four men met them.
One of them, Fentress said, asked "Are you from Time magazine?"
"I am here on business," Fentress said he replied.
"Your business is our business," one of them shot back, Fentress said, prodding him in the chest with a finger, and then striking him.

In his speech, Fiallo had declared the Civic Union never would "defraud your objectives." At the same time, Fiallo told the crowd to go home and to avoid violence. Fiallo, 65, is described by his friends as a liberal democrat opposed to extremists of left and right.
The army attitude toughened following rejection by the Civic Union Thursday night of a military proposal to keep President Joaquin Balaguer in office as head of a seven-man junta. The proposal would give the armed forces virtually complete authority in the republic, which is struggling to gain new political footing following the demise of the Trujillo dynasty.
Friday's shooting stirred up a new anti-Balaguer storm with some anti-American talk.
U.S. warships were visible offshore Friday morning, drawing jibes from some members of the crowds that roamed the streets.
One man shouted to U.S. correspondents: "Why did you bring those boats? To defend assassins? Yankees go home!"

Employment Picture Rosy;
8 Jobless Areas Dropped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department painted a somewhat brighter employment picture for the months ahead in announcing Friday that eight more industrial centers were taken off the list of areas with "substantial" unemployment.
The report covering the past month said this left 60 cities and metropolitan areas—of 150 covered in the regular survey — in that category of over 6 per cent unemployment.
This contrasted sharply with the gloomy report for November last year when the total was being pushed upward by the recession, reaching a record high of 101 in March and April. By comparison the November total for 1960 was 51, for 1959 it was 32, and in 1958 it was 83.
New Forecast
The new forecast said there will be a further temporary rise in employment in the major metropolitan areas, followed by the usual seasonal drop when temporary post office and retail workers are laid off after Christmas and weather forces cutbacks in construction and other outdoor work.
But the department said the over-all job drop will not be as severe as during the same season last year because it is expected to be offset by hiring in major industries such as steel, machinery, aircraft and ordnance.
The "substantial" unemployment classification entitles an area to preference in the award of military and other federal contracts.

The eight major centers taken off the "substantial" list were shifted to the "moderate" classification—3 to 5.9 per cent unemployment. They were: Tampa-St. Petersburg, Fla.; Savannah, Ga.; Worcester, Mass.; Saginaw, Mich.; New Brunswick-Perth Amboy, N.J.; Akron, Ohio; Tulsa, Okla.; and Corpus Christi, Tex.
One major center was taken off the "moderate" list. Rochester, N.Y., was shifted to the "low unemployment class"—with 1.5 to 2.9 per cent joblessness.
Three Added
Three smaller areas were added to the "substantial unemployment" list and six others were removed because of improved employment conditions.
Those added were Elizabethtown, Ky.; Hammond, La.; and Greenville, Tenn. Those removed were: Florence-Sheffield, Ala.; Hattiesburg, Miss.; Pascagoula, Miss.; Morganton, N.C.; Roanoke Rapids, N.C.; and Bremerton, Wash.
Two other smaller areas — Mount Carmel-Olney, Ill., and Morehead-Grayson, Ky.—were removed from the "substantial" list for different reasons. They were subdivided into five "very small" areas to reflect shifts in the commuting patterns of workers.
The net effect was to reduce the number of small areas with "substantial" unemployment to 201, compared with 206 in October and 217 in September.

Soviets Warn
Against Shift
Of U.S. Units

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet troops delayed an American combat outfit on Berlin's lifeline highway Friday and Moscow sounded warnings against a forthcoming shift of 3,000 U.S. troops over that road.
The developments shifted attention in the simmering Berlin crisis to the four-lane express highway, or autobahn, linking West Berlin with West Germany across 110 miles of Red-ruled East Germany.
Soviet guards delayed for 74 minutes a convoy of nine jeeps, trucks and trailers carrying about 50 U. S. troops out of Berlin for training in West Germany. They were held up in a driving rain until the U.S. Army corrected an error in papers shown to the Soviet checkpoint guards.
Although apparently caused by a technicality, the delay served to demonstrate the control the Communists have over autobahn traffic. Earlier this week, President Kennedy said international controls for the highway should be a major issue in any East-West talks.

The incident occurred just as a newly announced major shift of U.S. troops over the autobahn drew a sharp Soviet blast.
Tass, the official Soviet news agency, Thursday night denounced the current shuffle of U.S. troops over the autobahn as military provocation "fraught with dangerous consequences."
Without commenting on the charge, the Army at 7 a.m. announced plans to move entire battle groups across the autobahn, starting in the near future. The announcement brought a new Tass attack. It said the most recent movement was "not dictated by any kind of military considerations or requirements, but is just a dangerous act of military display."

About 1,500 men are in a battle group. The outfit scheduled to leave Berlin is the 1st Battle group, 18th Infantry, which was rushed here by autobahn after the Communists built their wall between West and East Berlin in August.

Leaving their families behind in West Germany, the men arrived in Berlin Aug. 20, coinciding with the flying visit of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. They will be relieved by the 1st Battle Group, 19th Infantry, now at Augsburg, West Germany.

The groups will move in several small units as customary, and the Soviet Union will be informed of all movements, the Army said. A battle group has seven companies.
Col. Ira A. Palm of Mount Vernon, N.Y., commands the group, scheduled to become part of Berlin's 6,500-man U.S. combat force. His men will stay in Berlin for an indefinite period, the Army said.
The U.S. outfit that crossed from Berlin to West Germany Friday was Co. C, 2nd Battle Group, 6th Infantry. It moved in three units. The first two cleared the Soviet checkpoint at Babelsberg, outside Berlin, with only the usual 20 to 25-minute wait for checking of documents.

Growth Through Witnessing

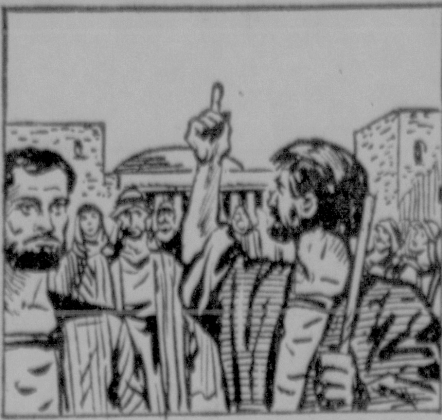

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matthew 5:13-16; Luke 10:1-24; Acts 4:13-21

Late in 29 A. D. Christ appointed 70 persons to go before Him, two by two, to the cities He planned to visit. They were to witness for Christ, heralding His coming, healing the sick and blessing the homes which received them.—Luke 10:1-9.

If they were not well received they were instructed to shake the dust of that place from their feet and leave, warning the inhabitants of their sinfulness and telling them that the kingdom of God was near.—Luke 10:10-16.

Two other bold witnesses were the apostles Peter and John. Brought before the Jewish high council, they confounded it by their profound knowledge of Christ and by the miracle they had performed.—Acts 4:13-17.

When this Sanhedrin, jealous of their power, forbade Peter and John to preach more, the apostles said they had to obey God's will, not the Sanhedrin's. The council was powerless against them.—Acts 4:18-22. GOLDEN TEXT: Acts 4:20.

Today's Lesson:

Growth Through Witnessing

By N. Speer Jones
IN THIS lesson we are given two examples of men sent forth directly by Christ, to bear witness to others on His behalf. We have also the exhortation by Christ Himself to each one of us to do likewise.

The first example is recorded only in the passage cited from Luke. It took place in Perea, a region of Palestine east of the Jordan and the Dead Sea, in December 29 A. D.

There Christ appointed 70 persons to go, two by two, before Him to all the places He planned to visit. They were given power to heal the sick and declare that the kingdom of God was near. The fact that Christ chose 70 is significant. Previously God had commanded Moses to appoint 70 elders to help him; in imitation of this, the Sanhedrin, high council of Christ's time, also consisted of 70 members and a president.

That these witnesses were to go two by two meant that they could protect, comfort and communicate with each other; this principle is followed even today. It is interesting to note that our word apostle comes from the Greek word apostelein, which means "sent."

These men are sent out to help "harvest" others into God's work. Wilbur Smith points out (in "Peloubet's Select Notes," p. 399) that although the harvest is the Lord's, it must be reaped with the aid of men; just as food rots if it is not harvested, so men decay if their abilities are not channeled to the service of God.

The exhortation given these 70 to "salute no man on the way" means that they are not to loiter before reaching their destination. They are to remain in the same house, so that it will not be denied unworthy.

Chorazin, Bethsaida and Capernaum were three cities in which Christ had not been welcomed; they are compared to ancient Sodom, destroyed in Old Testament days. They will be worse off than Tyre and Sidon at the day of judgment, for Tyre and Sidon had not had the oppor-

Parson To Parson

By R. G. MACLEOD

IF YOU could get religion like a Baptist, practice it like a Methodist, be proud of it as an Episcopalian, be loyal to it as a Catholic, sacrifice for it like a Jew, defend it like a Lutheran, give service like the Salvation Army, have the zeal of a Jehovah Witness, tithe as the Seventh Day Adventist and support it like a Presbyterian—what a religion you would have!

Overheard on the avenue one Sunday, just after church—"That sermon on pride didn't tunities for knowing the Gospel and repenting, as had the three cities Christ condemns. The other example of witnessing is the famous incident recorded in Acts, in which Peter and John healed a lame man.

both me, in fact I'm proud of my humbleness!"

Far too many people have "Roast Preacher" for dinner Sunday after services.

In the Highlands of Scotland sermons are often two or more hours long, and "Kirk" services are held in the morning, afternoon and night.

One young gentleman was caught peeking at his watch during the fire and brimstone lecture and the minister stopped, pointed his finger and exclaimed—"You are right Sir, my object in preaching is to save the people of Scotland—AND ON TIME!" He then continued on for another half hour!

Another reason to be glad you live in the U.S.A.

Festival Of Lights Begins At Sundown

TEMPLE Israel Jewish Congregation of the Stroudsburgs joins the Jews everywhere in the eight-day Festival of Chanukah, which begins at sundown today.

Rabbi Bernard Presler of Temple Israel explains the Chanukah Festival this way: The Festival of Chanukah commemorates the successful struggle for religious liberty, led by the priest Mattathias and later by his son, the brave Judas Maccabeus, against the Syrian oppressors, in the year 165 before the Common Era.

The struggle culminated in a great victory for the Jews which ended in the recapture of the Temple in Jerusalem. The Temple was cleansed and rededicated to the service of God.

The lights were kindled in the Sanctuary. The Festival is known in the Hebrew as "Hanukkah" which means "Dedication".

It is also known as the "Feast of Lights", because the Chanukah candles are lighted each night for a period of eight nights in commemoration of this Feast of Rededication.

The candles are kindled in commemoration of the miracle which according to tradition, occurred when the Maccabees rededicated the Temple.

Miracle Of The Oil

After cleansing the Temple and removing all of the idolatrous objects that had been used by the Syrians one unpolluted cruse of oil was found in the Temple, just enough oil (for burning) for one day. Yet, miraculously the oil burned for eight days.

The miracle of the cruse of oil symbolizes the miracle of the survival of the Jewish people and Judaism through the ages.

The Syrians who had adopted the culture of the Greeks, known as Hellenism were not alone in their attempt to force their thought and religion upon the Jews. Nor were the Maccabees alone among our people in their struggle to resist such regimen.

Chanukah is a happy festival. It is the custom to give gifts to the children and hold merry family and community gatherings during the week of Chanukah. The big event on Chanukah is the candle-lighting ceremony.

The father lights the candles each evening just after nightfall in the presence of the entire family. A prayer of thanks to God for His miracles and loving-kindness is recited as the candles are lit.

On Saturday the first night a single candle is lit. The number is increased by one on each evening, until the last night when the full eight are kindled.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

KEYS...
TO UNDERSTANDING

Suppose you were given keys that would unlock the mysteries of the universe. With them, you could answer the "whys" that plague all of us. You'd know what was going to happen to you and those around you tomorrow—next month—next year.

Would you use them?

Of course, you say! Think again. And, once you've thought, you might shake your head, hand them back, and say, "No thank you."

Common sense tells us that man was not meant to understand every mystery of life. The reasons "why" remain as they are because our Creator in His wisdom thoroughly knows just how much man can both stand and understand.

God has a greater gift for you than these, or any other keys... the gift of Faith. You will find it by going to church regularly.

Have It Both Ways

Can a company "administer" prices, setting them as it chases regardless of the law of supply and demand?

The Administration evidently has two contradictory answers to this question, and uses first one, then the other, as it suits Washington purposes.

Sen. Estes Kefauver long has been contending that big companies can set prices and make the public pay them. The New Frontier has been sympathetic to this view.

President Kennedy seemed to support the "administered price" idea when he wrote to the steel companies, asking them not to include in their prices the costs of a wage increase under a contract with the Steelworkers' union.

Producers have been contending that the "administered" price is nonsense. If they could set their prices regardless of market conditions and without being held in violation of anti-trust laws, why would so many prices go up and down instead of always up?

Now it appears that it is handy for the Administration to reverse itself and contend that prices are not "administered."

Much public apprehension has been expressed that New Frontier spending policies, deficits and cheap money will cause inflation.

Walter W. Heller, chairman of the President's Board of Economic Advisors, does not want fear of inflation to check Administration programs. So he has assured us that prices will not rise because there is so much unused capacity among producers. This means plentiful supply, and in classical economics prices cannot rise when supply exceeds demand. Particularly cited is the aforementioned steel industry, which is operating at less than three quarters of capacity.

So, when it is desired to attack business and impose wider government controls, we are told that prices are administered. When Washington wants to lull us about its inflationary policies, we are told that prices are, after all, still determined by the law of supply and demand.

Evidently, Washington sees no objection to attempting to confuse the people this way, but most people would see it as intellectual dishonesty.

Censorship And License

Censorship of moving pictures before they are shown to the public is now definitely impossible in Pennsylvania, made so by a U.S. Supreme Court ruling sustaining such a decision made previously by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

We are relieved that the case turned out this way. But our relief is not occasioned by our approval of the anything-goes policy under which the Hollywood movie producers sometimes seem to be operating.

Rather our feeling stems from a firm belief that censorship of any medium of expression is an evil worse than the risk that the freedom of expression will sometimes be abused as it is too frequently abused by the movie-makers.

The fact that pre-censorship of movies is outlawed does not mean that it is lawful to exhibit salacious films in Pennsylvania. This state has good laws against obscenity which hold the exhibitor criminally accountable for what he shows on his screen. And we're in favor of full enforcement of these laws.

The important thing to remember is that the absence of censorship in this country does not equal absolute license. Those who use our freedoms of speech and press and other forms of expression are still accountable for any abuses of these freedoms, and they should never forget it.

Reports From Congress

Reclamation Faces Hurdles

By Congressional Quarterly
Washington — Is the 50-year-old federal reclamation program which has reclaimed millions of acres of arid Western lands since 1902, slowing down?

Some water experts believe it is. This year Congress failed to authorize a single new reclamation project to provide irrigation water in any of the 17 Western states which benefit from the federal reclamation laws.

It was the first time in eight years that Congress failed to authorize a new reclamation project. The last blank year was 1953.

Both 1953 and 1961 marked the start of new administrations. Agency reports to Congress on prospective projects were slowed in those years by personnel changes in the Interior Department and the Budget Bureau.

Chairman Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.) of the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee concedes that Congress was dilatory in enacting new reclamation projects into law this year. But he predicted recently that several new reclamation project authorizations will go on the statute books before the 87th Congress passes into history next year.

Serious Problems Ahead — But Chairman Wayne N. Aspinall (D-Colo.) of the House and Insular Affairs Committee sees "serious problems in the years ahead" for the reclamation program if either Congressional authorizations or appropriations lag.

"I believe that our authorization and construction programs should be approximately equal, dollarwise," running at the rate of about $300 million annually, Aspinall told the House Public Works Subcommittee June 8. Aspinall estimated that the Congress appropriated about $187 million for reclamation construction as an annual average from 1947-60. It appropriated $274,408,100 for the Bureau of Reclamation for 1962 fiscal year. Annual project authorizations have gyrated widely from the nearly $1 billion in reclamation projects authorized by Congress in 1956 to none this year. More than $1.5 billion in new reclamation project authorizations is pending in Congressional committees at this time.

The Senate — but not the House — this year passed bills authorizing the Navajo-San Juan-Chama projects in New Mexico and the Mid-State project in Nebraska. These projects would cost about $300 million and would provide irrigation water to more than 370,000 acres of land in the two states.

The House Interior Committee reported favorably the bill authorizing the $170 million Fryingpan-Arkansas project in Colorado, and the Senate Interior Committee approved the bill authorizing the $183 million Garrison diversion project in North Dakota. Bills authorizing more than a dozen more new reclamation projects are awaiting action in each committee.

Factors Hurting

Several factors hurt new reclamation projects this year, in the opinion of many Members of Congress. They are:

1. New projects are harder to justify. Most of the best reclamation projects have already been built, and the most fertile Western land is already served by irrigation ditches. Moreover, reclamation projects awaiting Congressional approval today are much more costly to construct than projects built a decade or so ago because of higher construction costs.

2. Crop surpluses. Although crops grown on reclamation projects contribute only 2.16 per cent to the government's vast store of surplus crops, new reclamation projects are under attack from Midwestern Members of Congress who question the advisability of putting new land into production in the West in the years ahead when Midwestern farmers are being asked to withdraw land from production now. Reps. H. Carl Anderson (R-Minn.), Fred Schwengel (R-Iowa) and Odin Langen (R-Minn.) favor a moratorium on authorizing new reclamation projects in the West until the current crop surplus problem has been solved.

3. Public power. Congressional battles this year over Idaho's $45 million Burns Creek project and over the funds for the Upper Colorado transmission lines have raised questions in Congress about the role of the Bureau of Reclamation. Its Congressional critics, led by Rep. John P. Saylor (R-Pa.) and James A. Haley (D-Fla.), claim the Bureau is seeking to carve out a role for itself as a federal power agency and to build public power projects under the guise of

They presented themselves as men of action—apostles of courage. Today, both in the U. Off The Record

By Bob Clark

Jack Westwood, former resident of Stroudsburg, is making quite a mark for himself down New Jersey way as a human interest columnist.

Jack, son of Rev. Herbert Westwood, who was pastor at the Stroudsburg Methodist Church back in the twenties, pens a bylined column in the New Brunswick Home News entitled, "Off Beat."

Jack and his sister Sarah both were popular young folks who circulated joyfully through the town during their father's tenure at the Main St. church.

Westwood's columns deal with every facet of living. His down to earth humor, mixed with cynical trappings brings enjoyment to his readers weekly.

For example, Westwood recently described his worry about the economy of the New Brunswick area and his attempt to seek out information from the powers-to-be. He wrote:

"At this moment I am concerned with the local economy and its effect on the drain of the Westwood dollar. On this subject our local officials, governing bodies and school boards have been as silent as a barbershop on Wednesday."

Reporting on the dollar drain at his home, Westwood says: "In a way, it is unfortunate that they have done away with the debtor's prison. I feel this was a step in the wrong direction in an enlightened world. "In the debtor's prison I would have had a place to sleep, and three meals a day, perhaps of inferior quality, and not quite as square."

"And there I would have had the opportunity to think on a harsh word, philosophize on my plight, commune with my soul, and perhaps write a book."

"It is rather difficult to commune with your soul and write a book while constantly ducking the sheriff and creditors who also are afflicted with the dollar drain."

Colleague Westwood has a lot of good points but we'll forego the debtor's prison and take our chances of eluding the sheriff and the creditors.

Seriously, Westwood is rated one of the finest columnists in the east. And it goes to show that this area has housed some pretty classy material—one of whom is Jack Westwood.

Liz Flynn Writes

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn may not recall me but when she was a very young girl, in her early twenties, I knew her fairly well. Then she was an excited, enthusiastic young woman who went to Paterson, New Jersey, as many of us did, for the silk workers.

Silk was then a dying industry

In this country. It was the beginning of new fabrics, not quite as devastating as rayon, nylon, orlon and the numerous new fabrics which have altered industrial life throughout the world.

But silk was having a very hard time and both the employers and the workers were being pushed to the wall. The

Inside You And Yours

Age And Sex —And Hips

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

Why the fuss about age and sex? It's only hip trouble!

Normally, the rounded top of the hip bone—called "femur"—grinds a deep socket in the pelvis. But loose ligaments allowed one femur to dangle before birth, and Tammie arrived with one shallow socket—an especially female ailment.

The femur clicked into joint when you spread her tiny knees. Muscle spasm stiffened the hips, and creases along buttocks and thighs didn't match evenly.

When Tammie began to walk, she would have limped as the femur slipped in and out of joint.

But diaper—pinned to the sheets—held her hips bent and rotated outward in frog-like positions. Now the femur could grind a deeper socket. Pillow-filled diapers and plaster casts work the same way.

Both Hips Sound

By the time Tammie first stood—trying to reach the calendar—she could count on two good hips.

Perthe's disease attacks chubby teen-aged boys. The rounded top of the femur begins to crumble.

Tim limped because one leg couldn't swing back. His knee ached more than his hip—they share many nerves. But muscle spasm pinpointed his hip trouble.

Home-bound for a whole year—first in a plaster cast, later hobbling on crutches—Tim now relishes that long walk to school each morning.

Another Form Of Trouble
Like many older men, Grandpa Tom suffers from osteoarthritis of the hip. The joint is wearing out and breaking down.

X-rays show bony ridges and ice-creams growing around the joint. They crackle when he walks.

Trimming weight and getting off your feet lighten the load on hip joints. So does the cane Grandpa Tom uses! Aspirins, liniments and soothing heat calm all his aches and pains.

Doing Fine

He's doing fine without surgery or stronger medicines. Most days, he walks to school with Tim!

Age and sex? Very important, whether you have hip trouble or not!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

About Town

Over this past weekend, the British Broadcasting Corp. flew my brother Cecil from his home in Tokyo to London and then back to Tokyo to spend a total of 30 seconds before a London TV camera.

It came about in this way. When the Japanese opened the war in 1941, Cecil was broadcasting out of Singapore and was gathering some on-the-spot material by making a cruise on the British battleship Repulse which was being accompanied by the sister ship, Prince of Wales up a fairly narrow bay.

Japanese torpedoes-bombers caught the two ships where there was insufficient sea room in which to maneuver and sent both ships to the bottom. Cecil was in the oil-covered waters for several hours and was near the end of his strength when he was finally dragged onto the side of a heavily over-loaded lifeboat by a sympathetic British seaman.

After reaching land some hours later and still in his oil-soaked clothes he did a memorable world-wide broadcast from the Singapore radio station.

The BBC did a TV show over the weekend reconstructing the whole Singapore incident and it needed Cecil for a 30-second chat with the rescuing seaman.

The fact that the British administration in Singapore later expelled Cecil for broadcasting the accusation that the British knew little about fighting the Japanese was only incidental.

The Japanese later captured Singapore by driving down the mainland instead of attacking by sea. All the heavy British harbor and naval guns were fixed to fire "out to sea" and couldn't be turned around.

Holiday magazine, in the 3rd installment on the fabulous Rothschild family, says of the 58 descendants of Meyer Rothschild, over half of the marriages were between first cousins, which is one way of keeping the money in the family.

New Jersey has notified its various health departments to assist in giving information on birth control providing it does not interfere with the religious convictions of the staff. In Connecticut the U. S. Supreme Court now has the problem. We advise aspirin instead.

The pastor had had a rough time with his parishoner. The latter was an avid bowler and spent all day Sunday at the alleys. His spiritual adviser constantly admonished him against this practice, telling him he should be in church on Sunday.

Finally the bowler went to his eternal reward—the nether region, where he was greeted by Satan.

"Ah, we've been waiting for you," he told the bowler. "Come, look at our alleys."

The layout was beautiful—the latest pin-spotters, ball return, etc.

"Can I pick up a pair of shoes and try it?" asked the bowler breathlessly.

"Certainly," replied Satan.

The bowler quickly laced up the shoes and eagerly selected an alley. He stood there, looking around, puzzled.

"Where are the balls?" he asked Satan.

The reply: "That's the h . . . of it! There aren't any!"

Ed Ward contributes this one:

A man ordered a glass of beer, drank half, and threw the rest at the bartender. He then apologized profusely and explained that it was a nervous compulsion he has. "You'd better see a psychiatrist," advised the bartender, and the man said he would. A month passed and he returned to the pub and did the same thing again. "I thought you were going to a psychiatrist!" stormed the bartender. "Oh, I did," said the man, "and it's done me a world of good. . . . I'm no longer embarrassed."

A comment from James Reston on the efforts of Richard Nixon to re-enter politics: "The surprising thing is that they (defeated politicians) invariably come back for more. Savage or not politics is like booze and women; dangerous but incomparably exciting."

Returned yesterday from Middletown, N.Y. where the daily Record uses this column in an abbreviated form. Nevertheless it is popular, especially so I find as most of the jokes are shortened with such gusto that the punch line quite often appears at the beginning of the succeeding item the following day. It's an idea!

Paterson strikes were taken over by the I. W. W. and the leaders were Big Bill Haywood, Carlos Tresca, and the youthful Elizabeth Gurley Flynn.

They were not Communists; they were syndicalists, closer to anarchists than Socialists. However, Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, in due course, became a Communist and is now Chairman of the Communist Party of the United States.

She has just returned to the United States to be arrested in accordance with a Supreme Court decision and she has written a pitiful letter to "The New York Times" in which she describes her plight:

"I wonder if you will entertain the same admiring attitude toward the writer of this letter (as to Molotov) who at the age of 71 is returning to face my accusers under the McCarran Act. The simple truth is that I risk a life sentence since, the penalties under the McCarran (Smith) Act are five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine for each day I refuse to register under the terms of a law that brands me a foreign agent."

The reference to the Russian who has returned to be sentenced for life is to Molotov and Elizabeth Gurley Flynn compares herself to Molotov who has for years served Soviet Russia as Minister of Foreign Affairs and a short time as Premier, although our lady has never served this country well or at all. She writes:

"Some may be facetious about my returning and suggest that possibly I should have remained in the Soviet Union. But it happens that I am an American. I love my native land and feel confident that there are millions of Americans who, whatever their political views, are also horrified at such monstrosities as the McCarran Act."

We usually assume that any course we set upon is right because we set upon it. Elizabeth Gurley Flynn was first arrested in Spokane, Washington in 1909, in a free speech fight. She has consistently fought for Leftist causes.

It was shocking to many libertarians when she joined the Communist Party which is a totalitarian organization that abhors liberty and the rights of the individual. However, that was her choice and she has been consistent in following the Communist line through every twist and change.

She adored and abhorred Stalin and was a minion of Earl Browder, until he was thrown out of the Party. This is the disciplined life of a Party member, who emerges to a high position.

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn rejects the Congress of the United States; she rejects the Supreme Court of the United States; but she obeys the authority of the Communist Party.

She is no longer free to think for herself, to choose for herself. Hers is to obey. She turned on her God and her church but she obeys Khrushchev and her Party. She obeys without the slightest deviation from the Party line.

This is a sad picture of a once free spirit, of a human being who once dared to assert herself and to take great risks. Those days are gone. They call her the Chairman of the Communist Party of the United States but she knows, as every Party member knows, that she is not the top official of the Party; that she is a front, to make speeches and write articles, but the instructions come from Moscow, from the Kremlin.

And those orders are always against the United States, are always designed to damage the United States.

Churches' Children Aid Hospital

SOUTH STERLING — Last December, a little boy survived the crash of a jet airliner on the streets of Brooklyn. The boy, eleven-year-old Stephen Baltz, was taken to the Methodist Hospital of Brooklyn. Many other victims were also given the expert care of this 8-year-old institution, located in the heart of the metropolitan region.

Each year, the children of the Church Schools of the South Sterling Methodist charge in South Sterling and Greentown fill red cardboard Christmas stockings with dimes which go to provide medical-surgical care for children of every creed and color at Methodist Hospital.

Rev. James Jeffers, pastor of the charge, points out that the Methodist Hospital is renowned for its medical work with children.

New heart research labs and complex instruments used in heart surgery are being obtained for this work at Methodist Hospital. Miss Roberta King, R. N., an instructor at the school of nursing, is the Christmas poster girl. Teaching in the 160-student nursing school, she says, "We all have a heart for the children. Their lives are in our hands."

The local church school students will bring their hospital Christmas gift on Christmas Sunday. Every school that contributes fifty dollars or more earns honor roll recognition.

Israeli Speaks At ESSC

ZVI (Harry) Zinder, the ex-Pennsylvanian who is now advisor on Public Affairs to Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion of Israel, told an audience at the East Stroudsburg State College yesterday that he visualizes "... an exchange of students between ESSC and Israeli colleges."

Zinder was introduced to the college assembly by president LeRoy J. Koehler and Dr. John C. Appel, as "the lead-off speaker in ESSC's World Cultures Program." Dr. Appel, who is chairman of the program, pointed out that the local college has been appointed a center of information and study on Israel, and on East and South Africa.

Growth And Progress
"Israel, Past and Present" was the topic of Zinder's speech. He noted that almost 1900 years had passed between the existence of the ancient state of Israel and the "re-establishment of modern Israel on May 14, 1948."

Between 1943 and 1961 great changes and progress can be reported. For example, in 43 the population of Israel was 650,000; today it is 2½ million. In '48 the gross national product was negligible; today it is 2 billion dollars.

One of the most interesting projects afoot in Israel at present is one that President Kennedy has said, on several occasions, "is vital for our future economic growth." That is, the discovery of a commercially feasible method of desalination of water.

Zinder believes that in 1962 a pilot plant for desalination of water will be set up in southern Israel, and that it will be successful. He credits an American engineering firm, that of Fairbanks Whitney, with working out the plans for it.

Both men and women in Israel undergo compulsory military training—the men for two and one-half years, the women for two.

Free, compulsory education for children from the ages of five to fourteen is now in effect, by next year this will have been raised to sixteen.

Israel To East Stroudsburg
Zinder concluded his talk by assuring Dr. Koehler and Dr. Appel of his government's interest in the World Cultures Program now being instituted at ESSC, and that he will "endeavor to see that materials and information about Israel will be forwarded to your college."

On Sunday Zinder will speak on HORIZONS, the weekly education program of radio station WVVO. He will be interviewed by Dr. Alfred D. Sumberg, of the ESSC faculty, who serves as co-ordinator of HORIZONS.

The FBI gave a city-by-city comparative breakdown of the 1960-1961 offenses.

The seven groups of figures are given in this order: Murder and nonnegligent manslaughter; Forcible rape; robbery, aggravated assault; burglary, breaking or entering; larceny ($50 and over) auto theft.

Sir Winston Has 87th Birthday

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill, blinking back tears of emotion, celebrated his 87th birthday yesterday with his family and in the affection of the Parliament he roused to fighting fervor during World War II.

The old warrior fortified himself with a luncheon of oysters, a big cigar and nips from a bottle of fine old brandy, presented by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, before going to Parliament for the welcoming cheers of his colleagues.

Churchill looked fit and perky—except when the tears blurred his eyes—throughout a busy day which included an almost hysterical rejection in his old domain, the House of Commons.

State Police Roadblock Fails To Snare Holdup Man

STATE Police roadblocks were thrown up throughout the Pocono Mountains area yesterday afternoon in the search for a man who held up the Capital Finance Co. in Matamoras and escaped with $162.05. State Police at Milford, who requested the road blocks in cooperation with Matamoras police, said a white man, about 19 years old, five feet eight inches tall and weighing 150 pounds, walked into the finance company office at 12:50 p. m. and pointed a sawed off shotgun at Patrick Malloy, Port Jervis, an employee of the firm.

He took the money and fled. Police did not know whether he was traveling by car. The roadblocks were withdrawn later in the afternoon.

Troopers said the holdup man was wearing sun glasses, has light brown hair and a thin mustache and was wearing a grey coat, felt hat and blue shirt with a white and yellow design.

Blast Wrecks Pumping Station

DUBOIS, Pa. (AP)—An explosion wrecked a pumping station of New York State Natural Gas Co. in nearby Luthersburg Friday with preliminary damage estimated at $250,000.

The blast and ensuing fire destroyed an office building and a warehouse. Firemen said the blast left a hole about 100 wide and 300 feet deep.

No one was injured. The explosion occurred in a 12-inch discharge line and touched off the fire.

Earl Altman of Dubois, station manager, said the explosion occurred about two hours before 50 employees were scheduled to report for work. He made the damage estimate.

Firemen from DuBois, Sandy Twp. and Brady Twp. battled the fire for more than two hours. Cause of the explosion was not learned immediately, but officials said a spark from a pump apparently set it off.

Before firemen could bring the blaze under control, pipelines in neighboring Elk and Jefferson counties had to be shut off.

Saylorsburg Soldier In Germany

ARMY Specialist Four Jacob R. Storm, Jr., whose parents live on Route 1, Saylorsburg, recently participated with other personnel from the 3d Armored Division's 6th Artillery in Exercise Brandywine, a seven-day field training exercise in Germany.

The exercise, which involved more than 26,000 troops, was designed to test the ability of participating units to move, shoot and communicate under simulated combat conditions.

The 3d, which is known as the "Spearhead" division, is one of five U. S. Divisions in NATO's "Pyramid of Power" in Europe.

Specialist Storm, a clerk in the battalion's Company A in Frankfurt, entered the Army in October 1958 and arrived overseas in April 1960.

The 20-year-old soldier attended Chestnut Hill High School in Brodheadsville.

South Wayne Principal Hears Salk

NEWFOUNDLAND — Leland Cramer, principal of Southern Wayne Joint School, heard Dr. Jonas Salk state that "education should not be a preparation for war or for economic advantage but for the development and enlightenment of the individual," during the Fortieth Annual Education Congress and Fall meeting of the Pennsylvania Association of Chief School Administrators at Harrisburg.

The local educators termed "very scholarly" the address of Dr. Salk, who is Commonwealth Professor of Experimental Medicine at the School of Medicine, University of Pittsburgh. His talk was on the general theme, "Purpose in Higher Education."

Cramer served as a member of the planning committee for the convocation, as a member of the 1961 Education Congress Advisory Committee.

Robert Wilson, principal of Waymart High School, attended the convocation with Cramer.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Just because shoemaker's children go without shoes, it doesn't necessarily follow that doctor's children go without any medication of any sort. In fact with all the samples that come into a doctor's office they are very apt to end up as guinea pigs for all sorts of new drugs.

Which is why they learn early that if they don't have a fever, aren't bleeding from an open wound or swelling up, they'd better keep quiet about minor discomforts. But an even more important lesson they learn is that promises are provisional.

They'll have a Sunday picnic if somebody doesn't have a baby; they'll have a bed-time story if nobody breaks a leg; they can invite a beau home to dinner if they're prepared to eat anytime between 6 and 10 p.m. And no amount of tantrums will change anything, because patients come first.

Which made it all the more of a miracle that so many doctors were able to come to Dr. Price's birthday party, that only one was called out before it even started and only half a dozen had to be late — among them the four men doctors in uniform, from the Reserve meeting who certainly added a security note to the gathering.

Most-felt absence, of course, was that of the Leitners and the Samets because of Dr. Leitner's attack. Certainly, if all the anxious concern and heart-felt wishes concentrated there could be bottled and taken by the teaspoonful three times a day, Dr. Leitner would be fully recovered by now.

In fact, if doctors would bottle and take their own advice to patients: keep regular hours, eat slowly and sensibly, balance outdoor exercise with enough sleep, leave your worries at the office: it would be a lot better for all of them.

But pretty frantic for the rest of us. What about the parents of the baby who cries all the first night home from the hospital? What about those twinges that didn't develop into full-blown aches until 2 a.m.? Besides, labor pains won't wait.

Survey Of World Hunger Given As ULCW Program

Tannersville—"Do you realize that one half of the world's people go to bed hungry, every night?" was the question raised in the program, "Hunger," directed by Kate Rowe, when the United Lutheran Church Women of St. Paul's Church met for the November meeting.

Assisting in the presentation of an imaginary airplane tour were Marjorie Besecker, Ruth Wertheimer and Caryl Nidlund. The first stop was in Korea. There only 30% of the land is used for growing food and the productivity is low. Tuberculosis is prevalent. Many of the people practically live on prayer. Lutheran World Relief assists with clothing and other needs. Hong Kong, the international port, was the next stop. Many rickshaws are seen on the streets. Ferry boats transport people from the mainland and over one and a half million refugees have come, fleeing from Communist oppression. Lutheran World Relief helps these people to help themselves.

The next stop on the tour was Calcutta, India's largest river city. There women wear saris and many of the men wear loin cloths. Often they are filthy clad. Huts are made from mud and straw. Women walk with urns or baskets on their heads. The main staple of their diet is rice and India cannot continue to feed her people adequately if the population explosion continues. Seventy per cent of the adults are illiterate and disease takes a high toll of life. Here Lutheran World Relief has helped supply the needs of the people. Our government has a "Food For Peace" plan, whereby surplus food is sent. For every dollar contributed, 300 pounds of food may be shipped.

Plans were made for the ULCW to furnish candy for distribution at Sunday School at Christmas. Bases will again be made by the organization.

A report was given that 25 bookbags had been made and sent to the World Community Day of Prayer for Latin America.

Eve Janson requested the donation of altar flowers for the church during the winter months. New thank-offering boxes were distributed.

The president expressed appreciation to those members assisting with the released-time Bible classes each week. Helpers include Eve Janson, Lydia Sebring, Viola Learn and Ethel Hill.

Two new members, Marjorie Besecker and Mrs. Hans Ewe, were welcomed.

Refreshments were served to the 24 persons attending. Hostesses were Eve Janson, Helen Holland and Frances Amelung.

Homemakers Complete Trivets

Bartonsville — The Bartonsville Home Extension Class met at the home of Mrs. James N. Canfield recently, to complete the trivet making project.

Reception Honors Dr. Price, Physician For 55 Years, On Her 80th Birthday

Since flowered hats are as much of her badge of office as her white doctor's coat and stethoscope, her colleagues chose that form to present flowers to Dr. Nina Mae Price on her 80th birthday on Nov. 30.

Dr. Thomas I. Metzgar, chief of staff of the General Hospital, made the presentation on behalf of the hospital staff, at a surprise birthday party held in her honor at an "after office hours" reception in the Regina Suite of the Penn-Stroud Hotel on Thursday night.

Guests were members of the Monroe County Medical Society and Auxiliary, with her husband, A. M. Price, and her daughter, Mrs. Horace Westbrook, as hosts.

The flowered "hat" of real pink carnations and giant pink daisies was the second major surprise of a busy birthday, most of which was taken up by a crowded "office hours as usual" routine. Dr. Price had been invited to a "family" party, made more plausible by the arrival of two more of her seven daughters: Mrs. Cyril Velkoff, Narberth, and Mrs. Walter Keve, Cranford, N. J., with Walter Keve and Walter Jr.

The unnatural quiet of the Regina Suite carried out the deception until she appeared when according and chorus adding to her startled surprise.

Dr. Price's hats frankly feminine have been a symbol that a woman doctor can remain a woman since her days as a medical student at Northwestern University where she rebelled at the mannish attire of the few other "hen medics" in an almost exclusively male field.

She was graduated from Women's Medical College in Philadelphia in 1906 and has been active as a general practitioner ever since. The Medical Society honored her formally at a testimonial dinner on her 50th anniversary of practice five years ago.

She still keeps up the killing pace of family doctor. The day before she had taken her turn at the Blood Bank visit. Yesterday, it was back to work as usual with "That Hat" blooming away as a centerpiece on the waiting room table.

Guests at the reception included Mrs. Roman Batory, Dr. and Mrs. Horace G. Butler, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Caulfield, Dr. and Mrs. Philip F. Ehrig, Dr. and Mrs. James C. Fahl, Dr. and Mrs. Edward T. Horn, Dr. Mary Hunsicker, Dr. Llewellyn Hunsicker, Dr. and Mrs. R. Frederick Jones, Dr. Charlotte Jordan, Dr. Claus Jordan, Dr. and Mrs. David Kohn, Dr. and Mrs. John Martucci, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Maxwell, Dr. and Mrs. T. P. Pond, Dr. and Mrs. Harvey T. Pullen, Dr. and Mrs. Evan C. Reese, Mrs. Carl B. Rosenkrans, Dr. and Mrs. John L. Rumsey, Dr. and Mrs. Paul H. Shiffer, Dr. Meyer Halperin, Dr. and Mrs. William Simons, Dr. and Mrs. Morton H. Spinner, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Viglione, Dr. and Mrs. Hans H. Brehm, and her family.

Others of their seven daughters, 19 grandchildren, and one great grandchild are spread from California and Washington on the West Coast to Rome, Italy.

Army Favored To Knock Roses Out Of Navy

Final Bowl Chances

Rivalry Games Highlight College Grid Weekend

College football stages its final big afternoon Saturday, with the traditional rivalries involved sharing the spotlight with glamorous post-season bowl games.

Four major bowl assignments have still to be filled. The chances are all four will be at the conclusion of Saturday's firing. Actually, two of the vacancies are expected to be filled automatically. Top-ranked Alabama, which gains for a perfect 10-0 record against Auburn, likely will announce it will take on Arkansas in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. And Mississippi is expected to declare itself in the Cotton Bowl against Texas after its final game against Mississippi State. The two schools are not permitted to accept bids officially until their seasons are over.

Rice On Line

Rice also is in line for a post-season trip, provided it beats Baylor, already set for the Gotham Bowl against Utah State. A victory for the Owls would put them in the Bluebonnet Bowl against Kansas and leave Baylor with a 5-5 record, a strange mark for a bowl-bound team.

Trail At Half

Turtzo Scores 22 As Knights Whip N'western In Opener

PEN ARGYL—Pen Argyl High School caught Northwestern in the third period and went on to a 60-43 victory in the basketball opener for both schools.

Dave Turtzo hit for 22 points for the winners and Dave Uliana added 17. Turtzo scored 12 of his points on foul shots. Pen Argyl hit on 24 of 33 foul shots, while Northwestern managed only 11 of 32 chances.

Pen Argyl trailed the visitors for most of the first half. The Knights did manage to go ahead briefly 7-5 in the opening quarter. But at the end of the period, it was Northwestern on top, 14-9.

Slice Lead

The Knights sliced that lead to only two points at half, 25-23. Early in the second half Roger Snyder hit three foul shots for the Knights, to tie the count 26-26. Minutes later Uliana connected on a field goal and after Brian Snyder tied the score and Uliana put in a layup to send the Knights ahead for good. Pen Argyl pumped in 15 more points before Northwestern could break the streak.

Pen Argyl also won the junior varsity game 48-43 with Ron Singer scoring 15 points for the winners.

Pocono Must Build Team Out Of Others' Players

HOW hard is it to build a quality basketball team out of players who have learned the game under another coach.

Pocono Mountain High coach Harry Werkheiser is faced with that problem, as he prepares for his club's Tuesday opener at Southern Wayne.

Werkheiser had 12 players on the varsity squad and all but two played varsity at another school last year. The unusual situation was brought about when four Monroe County Schools were consolidated into the Pocono Jointure this year. The four schools were Barrett Twp., Coolbaugh Twp., Tobyhanna Twp. and Pocono Twp. Werkheiser coached at Pocono Twp.

"All of the boys played different brands of ball last year," says Werkheiser, "and the hardest thing is trying to get them to play my brand."

Could Be Contender

If Werkheiser can get the players together, he should have one of the better area teams.

Three of Werkheiser's players were starters on last year's Pocono Mountain League championship team at Barrett. The trio is headed by the Ryan brothers, John and Norb, both juniors. Both players had better than 13 points per game averages last season in leading Barrett to a 15-1 regular season record.

The third Barrett holdover is A. J. Bittner, who also held a double figure scoring average last year.

Tobyhanna Twp. contributed Ralph Dunlap, Jake Murphy and Ed Luck. Luck set a league single game scoring record last year with a 40 point outburst.

Frank Marinaccio led the winners with 13 points. Al Van Etten followed with 11 and Frank Duffy added 10.

Delaware Valley scored 26 field goals and added six of 11 foul shots. The winners jumped to a 20-7 first period lead and were in command the rest of the way.

The Warrior JVs won the prelim 51-8, limiting Damascus to one field goal.

New Track Group May Be Formed
*WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the U.S. Olympic Association urged colleges and the Amateur Athletic Union Friday night to quit their fighting and realize "that the Olympic cause is greater than individuals and organizations."

K. L. (Tug) Wilson, who also is a former commissioner of the Big Ten Conference, added: "The future international competition that challenges us is tremendous and all of us must do everything in our power to further the Olympic cause."

The Olympics, and other foreign athletic events, are the key to the power battle between the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the AAU. The NCAA demands a greater voice in control of international affairs, now dominated by the AAU.

Follow Meeting
Wilson's banquet remarks came shortly after a four-hour meeting of the AAU Track and Field Committee which heard a message from the National College Track Coaches Association announcing their plans to form a separate federation to govern track and field affairs in the United States.

Charles D. (Chick) Werner of Penn State, NCTCA president, told the committee "the specific items of contention are many, but it is the considered opinion of our group that most and perhaps all could be corrected by a few simple concessions."

However, Werner added the coaches felt there is no chance that these concessions will be granted and are going ahead with plans to break away from AAU control.

Werner said the whole dispute could have been avoided if the AAU had granted the NCAA the representation it had sought in international affairs.

Pincus Sober, chairman of the committee and a veteran Olympic official and track coach, said the AAU had offered this representation and both organizations had agreed on a statement of principle.

In the end, the statement in-

Kennedy 1st Since Truman To Watch Service Classic

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Army rules an uncomfortable 1-point favorite over Navy in their spangled climax to the college football season Saturday with the thin possibility that a Rose Bowl bid may go to the winner.

President Kennedy, a touch football enthusiast, will be in the sellout crowd of 98,616 jamming Philadelphia Stadium for the 62nd annual service spectacle. It will be carried on a national television network (ABC, kickoff 1:30 p.m. EST).

The President, the first commander-in-chief to see the game since Harry Truman attended in 1949, will sit on the Army side during the first half and on the Navy side during the second. But he may find it hard to maintain strict impartiality. He was a PT

Sonny Sets Torrid Pace In 1st Year

SONNY Jurgensen, in his first full season as the Philadelphia Eagles' quarterback is setting a terrific pace. The Duke passing whiz already has set an Eagles' record for yards gained passing in one season, 2742, and needs but one more touchdown pass to equal the club record in that category.

And with three games remaining on the schedule the red-headed Jurgensen has a chance to crack a couple more Eagles' records. Norman Van Brocklin, whom Sonny succeeded as the Eagles' passing arm, holds or held most of the Eagles' passing marks.

Jurgensen's yardage total of 2742 surpasses Van Brocklin's old mark of 1617 set in 1959. Tommy Thompson, who steered the Eagles to world titles in 1948 and 1949, pitched 25 TD strikes in 1948 for the present club record. Sonny threw five TD passes against Dallas last Sunday to total 24 in 11 games, equalling Van Brocklin's best in 1960.

Van Brocklin holds the club records for attempts one season (374) and completions (198) but Sonny isn't far behind with 312 tries and 178 connections.

Tommy McDonald caught five passes against Dallas for a season's total of 50, 13 shy of the club record. Tommy also scored three times for an 11-game total of 10 TD's, only three off his own club record set a year ago.

SECOND place Crowe Insurance meets Pasch Refrigeration at Warren Lanes, Phillipsburg, N.J. tonight in a Delaware Valley Bowling League match.

Crowe is led by Okay Stuckey, whose 192 average is the second highest in the league. Other Crowe bowlers and their averages include Jake Nitel, 190, Russ Bergman, 190; Tom Sommers, 180 and Ted Hoffman, 180.

Carl Kohl will be bowling in substitution for Russ Bergman in tonight's match.

that these concessions will be granted and are going ahead with plans to break away from AAU control.

Werner said the whole dispute could have been avoided if the AAU had granted the NCAA the representation it had sought in international affairs.

Ideal Weather
Ideal weather was forecast. The weatherman said it would be a hazy, partly cloudy day with temperature in the mid 50s.

The two rivals enter the game about as closely matched as possible. Each has won six games and lost three. They played three mutual opponents — William and Mary, Detroit and Penn State. Army whipped all three. Navy beat two but lost to Penn State 20-10.

Pressure is always intense when these two old antagonists clash, but this year there is extra heavy pressure on Army Coach Dale Hall and his Black Knights. Army has been able to win only one of the last five meetings and dropped the last two games—43-12 in 1959 and 17-12 last year.

"This is a must game for us, and our boys realize it," says Hall, a onetime Army halfback. "I think we will win it."

Wayne Hardin, the Navy coach, says Army has a distinct advantage in physical equipment and adds: "If they play their best game they should beat us by a touchdown. But I'm counting on my boys to see that they don't."

Sophomore Team
Navy, which employs three different units in a modified throwback to the platoon era, has 22 sophomores sprinkled through its varsity squad. The more seasoned and slightly heavier Army is expected to use no more than six first-year men.

Speculation that the Pacific Coast may be considering Army or Navy for the Rose Bowl was heightened by the decision to put off selection of UCLA's opponent until Saturday night.

However, Minnesota and Michigan State—in that order—are said to have the inside track for the Pasadena trip, and Minnesota's faculty senate voted Friday to accept a formal bid to play in the New Year's day game if one is extended.

Formal Vote
The formal vote will be taken Saturday at their annual joint meeting but it was learned that

Johnson Stops Italian Boxer
MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Don Johnson of Los Angeles, stopped Aldo Pravisani, veteran Italian boxer, in the seventh of a scheduled 10-round bout Friday night. The referee halted the fight when Pravisani, who was ahead on points at the time, suffered cuts over both eyes.

The American weighed 128½, the Italian 134½. It was Johnson's fourth straight triumph in Australia.

Kathleen Crowley guest stars as Julia Abbott who sells a valuable vintage car to Kim, unknowingly receiving an old gang war in "The Classic Cab" on "Hawaiian Eye" Wednesday, Dec. 20 (ABC-TV, 9-10 p.m., EST).

The car, stored for 10 years, belonged to Julia's husband who disappeared. When Kim puts the car back in circulation as a taxi, the gangsters try to kill him to get it. Tracy Steele looks for the answers in the vehicle's construction.

New Cartoon Comedy Series

"Matty's Funnies with Beany and Cecil," a new Saturday evening half-hour cartoon comedy series featuring an irrepressible boy named Beany, and his pal Cecil, the Sea Sick Serpent, will debut on the ABC Television Network Saturday, Jan. 6, at 7 p.m., EST, it was announced today by Thomas W. Moore, ABC Vice President in Charge of TV Programming.

The program will be sponsored by Mattel, Inc., Hawthorne, Calif., toy manufacturer, Edgar J. Scherick, ABC Vice President in Charge of TV Network Sales, announced. The sponsorship was placed through Carson/Roberts/Inc., Los Angeles.

Produced by Snowball, Inc., the new, fully-animated series is based on the characters originally created for television by Bob Clampett. The Clampett-created characters are Beany, Cecil, Dishonest John, Capt. Hufferpuff and Crowsy.

'How To Throw Your Voice'

Kelly Gregg's boyfriend, Howard, wants her to be his assistant in his ventriloquist act, but Kelly objects on the grounds that an assistant to a ventriloquist is really a "dummy," in "How To Throw Your Voice" on "Bachelor Father" Tuesday, Dec. 26 (ABC-TV, 8:30 p.m., EST). Howard isn't so dumb—and ends up with two assistants, pretty Jenna Baxter, as well as Kelly.
